The Indiana Daffodil Society (IDS) Show was held in the Holiday Park Nature Center and Arboretum. It's a very nice setting for any horticultural based activity. This is one of my favorite shows to visit as a continuation of my memories of past IDS shows that were held in a very nice church. You can look up Holiday Park Nature Center online to see details.

This specific show was especially enjoyable yesterday as it was also a last opportunity to visit a bit more with the New Zealand families before they started their trip back home. It certainly has been a wonderful Daffodil season this spring time. The winners are below.

We have 1 more show to visit next weekend in Washington PA for Joe Hamms barn show.
