March 15, 1987

Dear Customers and Friends,

We hope that you are all well and enjoying the springtime pleasure of daffodils after such a snowy winter.

We are in the process of building a new office since we seem to have "out grown" our old one. We are enjoying our new computer, and the more we learn about it, the more we hope it will enable us to be outside with our seedlings and other bulbs.

Travels this past year have been very extensive, exciting and enlightening. We were up and down the east coast and in the mid-west lecturing, judging and helping individuals, Garden Clubs, Botanical Gardens, Colleges, Landscapers and Cities plan and implement their bulb plantings. We are glad to report that America is getting more colorful each year. For a long time, Americans were obsessed with beautiful lawns and green shrubbery. Now the trend is toward more and more flowers and toward achieving better fitness while planting, weeding and smelling - not to mention the fresh air enjoyed while gardening. It's so much fun introducing new bulbs and other perennials to excited and interested gardeners. More information of public gardens that might be interesting to visit is on page 25. However, there are many beautiful small, private gardens and yards that can be seen from the roads and sidewalks - like little pieces of Europe right here in our own backyard - so keep your eyes open!

Speaking of our "backyard", we have had the most exciting and rewarding project take place right here in Gloucester. Last fall, a group of citizens (calling themselves the "Blooming Committee"!) organized a community beautification project for each of our schools. The Daffodil Mart and several other generous individuals gave over 20,000 bulbs, so each school child could have the experience of planting a bulb at his/her school as well taking a bulb home to be planted in their own yard. The project involved Garden Clubs, PTA and interested citizens who had a marvelous interaction with the children in assisting them with the planning and planting of the flower beds. Our whole community will see Gloucester "bloom anew" soon! If you're interested, we will be glad to help you start your own "Blooming Committee" by sharing information as to the organization and procedure used here.

As a result of the excitement and anticipation of the flower beds all over the community, Gloucester County will re-vitalize it's annual Daffodil Festival on April 11th and 12th with its 32nd annual Daffodil Show. Bus tours of the Daffodil Mart and other daffodil plantings, a Children's Daffodil Show, Horticultural Arts and Crafts Display and Sale, Performing Arts on the Court Green, a Daffodil one mile run/walk, an Easter Egg Hunt and a Daffodil Dance, as well as the ADS Daffodil Show, are just some of the events of the festival. We hope you'll come and join the festivities! For more information, call 804-693-2355.

On April 24th and 25th, our house and gardens will be open for the Garden Week tour. We have planted over 200 varieties of tulips in beds of 50 to 100. We have also planted over 150 varieties of additional spring flowering bulbs other than the 2000 varieties of daffodils that are in our fields, some of which we hope will still be in bloom by then. Although we won't be "open for business", we hope you will come for a "look see". We look forward to seeing old friends and meeting new ones.

This is really going to be a busy spring at the Daffodil Mart, but we're looking forward to it all. We hope your spring is warm, filled with flowers and with excitement of a new growing season!

Brent and Becky Heath

We give extra bulbs to customers who send their orders in by May 31st!

EXPLANATION OF DESCRIPTION CODE

The following is an alphabetical listing of our price list. Beside the name is the description code and price. The first number in the code indicates the division (#1 trumpet, one flower to a stem, trumpet or corona as long or longer than the perianth segments; #2 large cup, one flower to a stem, cup or corona more than one-third but less than equal to the length of the perianth segments; #3 small cup, one flower to a stem, cup or corona not more than one-third the length of the perianth segments; #4 double, double flowers; #5 triandrus, two or three nodding blossoms per stem; #6 cyclamienus, reflexed perianths; #7 jonquilla, several small fragrant poeticus, dogwood-like red rimmed fragrant blooms; #10 wild forms, all species and wild or reputedly wild forms and hybrids; #11 split corona, corona split for at least one-third of its length; #12 miscellaneous, varieties not falling into any of the foregoing divisions). Next is a letter(s) indicating petal color, cup color(s) from inside out, sequence of bloom and height. The following codes may help. W-white; Y-yellow; O-orange; R-red; P-pink; E-early; M-midseason; L-late. For example, Abba, the first daffodil listed, is a double white and orange flower, it blooms early-midseason, and is 16 inches tall. A suitability code is also given. (S-show, G-garden, N-naturalizing, C-cut, F-force, R-rock garden). "Stars" indicate our growth code. (*excellent, very good, good, *fair). For example, Abba is good for show, gardens, naturalizing, cutting and forcing and is an excellent grower. The prices in the price columns are per each, per 3, per 10 and per 100 bulbs. Detailed descriptions by division start after the alphabetical listing.

THE DAFFODIL MART FERTILIZER RECOMMENDATIONS AND PLANTING INSTRUCTIONS

Bulb crops "in general" prefer a low nitrogen-moderate phosphorous-high potash fertilizer. We have developed a slow release 5-10-20 formula with trace elements that we feel best suits the nutritional requirements of daffodils. We recommend a top dressing (as opposed to putting fertilizer in the bed as this may tend to burn the bulbs and cause them to rot) in the fall after planting, and again in the spring as their shoots are emerging. This program gives the bulbs a continual supply of nutrients while they are growing from the time they initiate root growth until the foliage matures in June. For organic nutrients, use a little cottonseed or Blood Meal for nitrogen - Bone Meal for phosphorous and calcium - and New Jersey Greensand or wood ashes for potash. Bone Meal is not a complete bulb food. Unfortunately it attracts rodents and dogs, which may dig up your bulbs to get to the bone meal. Please order fertilizer for shipment with your bulbs. For more information on our fertilizer, see page 23.

WATERING your bulbs may be necessary if you do not get sufficient rain (1/2 inch per week generally). Water is needed in the fall to assure good root growth before freezing weather sets in; again in the spring when active top growth starts; and in April and May, the most critical time, when the bulbs are manufacturing food for next years bloom. Our Leaky Pipe Soaker is excellent for this. For more information on the Leaky Pipe Soaker, see page 24.

PREPARE YOUR FLOWER BEDS AHEAD OF TIME!

1. Pick a spot with good drainage or make raised beds.
2. Improve the texture of heavy clay by the addition of sand, Peat Moss or Gypsum.
3. Dig your beds deep to encourage good root penetration.

WE SHIP UPS UNLESS YOU REQUEST OTHERWISE - (Last year parcel post took two weeks to deliver while UPS took two days!)

Rodents will not eat daffodil bulbs because they're poisonous to them, but they'll use mole runs and eat other bulbs!

MINIMUM ORDER $15.00

SLIDE TALKS AND CONSULTATIONS

I give slide talks, lectures and do consulting work when the need arises and when time permits. My talks can cover several subjects and can be geared to what your group wants and needs. Listed below are the topics of my talks.

1. Daffodils for the Novice - a brief history, nomenclature, culture for the home gardener and a selection of the "tried and true" and the new cultivars.
2. Daffodils for Show - how to grow and prepare them for the show table plus hybridizing; a hands on workshop "in season".
3. Daffodils for the Professional - culture and use in the landscape - new techniques, tools and fertilizers for planting and care; cultivar selection and companion planting.
4. Miniature and specie Daffodils - their use and culture in rock gardens and the border.
5. Tulips and Miscellaneous Bulbs - their culture and use in the home garden and the landscape.
6. Bulb Gardens of the USA and Europe - a limited but exciting selection of those that I have visited.
7. Forcing Bulbs - exploring the exciting possibilities of growing many types of bulbs in containers for winter color and fragrance indoors. Demonstrations of techniques and equipment; workshop available.
8. Community Beautification With Bulbs - Review of projects throughout the country. Evaluation of your situation; suggestions and planning for your own project.

If I can be of service to your club or organization, please notify me. I charge my expenses plus a graduated fee depending on the business potential. Please write early to reserve a date on my calendar.

A FEW PUBLIC GARDENS WHERE SOME OF OUR SPRING FLOWERING BULBS ARE ON DISPLAY

Brookside - Wheaton, MD
Cincinnati Zoo - Cincinnati, OH
Des Moines Botanical Center - Des Moines, IA
Guston Hall - Lorton, VA
Inneswood & State Capital - Columbus, OH
Lewis Ginter Botanical Garden - Richmond, VA
Longwood Gardens - Kennett Square, PA
Monticello - Charlottesville, VA
Mount Vernon - Mount Vernon, VA
Nebraska State Fairgrounds - Lincoln, NE
New York Botanical Gardens - New York, NY
N. C. State Arboretum - Raleigh, NC

After your daffodils bloom, it's very tempting to tie up the foliage or cut it off...but please DON'T! If you do, you will rob the bulb of proper nutrients that aid in flower production. Try planting annuals in front of and around the daffodils just as soon as the flowers die. By the time the daffodil foliage begins to turn yellow, the annuals will be beautiful and will keep your garden continually blooming.

Dear Friends,

The following list is a result of an excellent growing season and surplus. We are excited about this and offer you, with enthusiasm, the opportunity to purchase these on a "first come/first serve" basis with the deadline on standards being November 1st and for species, October 15th. May these bulbs bring you many blue ribbons and silver cups!

The list below is of specie bulbs grown and authenticated by James S. Wells of Red Bank, NJ. For our northern customers, most of these bulbs are best grown in a cold frame, cool greenhouse or sunporch. We have grown them all very successfully in our cold greenhouse and have enjoyed blooms throughout the winter and early spring. They should be reliably hardy in zones 8 and 9. Planting instructions will be included with bulbs.
