

B. Y. Morrison's hilarious account of his visits to English and Irish daffodil breeders 30 years ago was a rare occasion. He is a remarkable personality and completely captured his audience. Prior to his talk he was awarded and presented with the Gold Medal of the Society for his outstanding work with daffodils years ago.