For all information about daffodils and the American Daffodil Society, please go to daffodilusa.org.

The discussion forum is daffnet.org.

The free online library is dafflibrary.org.

The daffodil database with photos is daffseek.org.

And the daffodil presentation website is dafftube.org.

DaffSeek version 3 is now on the Internet. It improves the organization of the query menus and also has much better support for mobile devices. Daffseek is a daffodil database with information on about 32,000 daffodils and over 30,000 photos. It is available at <http://daffseek.org/>.

Under Acknowledgements, is a category for Historic Images and has the following statement: "The American Daffodil Society acknowledges the 72 historic sources from 13 countries whose 1068 images and illustrations are included in DaffSeek." Most of these historic images were scanned from old catalogs and articles.

There are photos of the screens and more information posted on Daffnet today at this link: <http://daffnet.org/> An article will appear in the December issue of the Journal with more information.

ADS Display Gardens in the Southeast:

Florida...Van Beck Garden

Georgia...State Botanical Garden of Georgia, Athens

Tennessee---Cheekwood Botanical Garden, Nashville and the Historic Carnton Plantation, Franklin

The Final Word.....

Please remember to use Bloomin' Bucks when ordering from Brent and Becky's bulbs. The ADS gets a substantial portion of your order from them. And for the holidays and beyond log in to SmileAmazon.com and designate the ADS as your charity and the ADS will receive a portion of your order from them as well.

Every little bit helps!! And it doesn't cost you anything to support the ADS!

I hope you all have a great autumn and winter and hope to see you in St. Louis in April.

Take care,

Andrew T. Buhler, Jr.
