With an eye to covering a variety of photos and reports from our region, I present to you the following rather disjointed materials.

For show results from last spring, please see page 20 of The Daffodil Journal. For complete reports see www.dafflibrary.org. Click on ADS Pubs, then scroll down to Show Results.

From Steve Plato regarding the 2017 Pittsburgh Daffodil Show on April 29 at the Shady Side Academy in Fox Chapel;

“We had a very surprising number of daffodils for this late in the season. Local exhibitors from Western Pennsylvania and several other Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and West Virginia growers provided what was left from their gardens. Several knowledgeable exhibitors, aware that they might not have daffodils left by our Show date, preserved them in their refrigerators for as long as 3 weeks! The results were totally spectacular and startling that any flower can show this type of vigor and resiliency for such a long period.”

The next Newsletter will contain the schedule of spring shows in our region, but meanwhile I want to inform you that the Regional Show will be the one at Delaware Valley in 2018.
