The Carroll County Daffodil Society is hosting a Daffodil Month celebration on Wednesday, April 3, 2019. The park district joined forces with the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) to promote the county's wealth of blooming intent and celebration. The idea is to create more awareness and show how the beauty of daffodils through Ashton's 5 & 10¢ Store, as well as, through The Ashton Foundation. Jan Green, has worked with daffodils for years, under one belts and has been via daffodils the community due to her work experience. "While working at Stark State as a professor, she reached out to the Carroll County Board of Education. She is a member of the First Presbyterian Church, where she is a deacon and elder and taught Sunday School." Continuing, she described her as a resource person for the community due to her work experience. "After graduation from Akron University, she worked at the Stark County Welfare Dept, as a licensed social worker. After obtaining her master's degree from Case Western University, she became an independent clinical social worker and worked a number of jobs. She is credited with opening the first licensed home for adults with disabilities in Ohio and worked in Juvenile Court for Judges Allen and Moyes and served as health commissioner for the county. Because of her experience, she knows people from all over the state."

"Carroll County has a wealth of blooming intent and it is natural that the park district helps with this initiative," said the Director of Park District, The Carroll Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) has become a key component in the world of daffodil cultivation. "We plan the SWCD is a partner. They actually have been promoting daffodils for years, and Carroll County is primarily bringing everyone together who appreciates daffodils. We are working together." The Carroll County Daffodil Society plans to plant the county yellow with daffodils blooming in March and April.

The Barker twins don't allow autism to slow them down and are celebrating Autism Awareness Month by designing T-shirts which are for sale locally.

By Carol McilMiro

GOOD MORNING
Sue Henderson!
Thank you for subscribing to The Messenger!

INDEX
Coutt: A-4
Sports: A-7,8
Classified: A-11
Obituaries: A-8,9
School: A-9,10

Anew results will replace Cole Scott as super-intendent of the Carroll Golden Age Retirement Home this year.

Faulk to add Scott as director of Golden Age Retreat

Dawn Faulk was recently appointed director of the Golden Age Retreat. The announcement was made last week by Scott, who plans to retire Aug. 12 after 28 years as the county-owned facility. Faulk, a Carrollton resident, is a 15-year employee of the GARS, working as a floor nurse and shift supervisor. "This is my second home," Faulk said reacting to the announcement. "I fell in love with this place when I came here to work. The residents are wonderful, very thankful and kind and I like that it is a home-like feeling."

Faulk added that being a director is a reward of this position. "I very pleased Carrollton native was hired for the position," she said. "Dawn has experience in all areas and she will be a perfect fit. She will be very willing to learn the position."

Scott said as soon as a replacement is hired for Faulk's current position, she will begin training. "She will learn from me, as her boss, and very quickly will teach her the financial side."

By Carol McilMiro

Dawn Faulk was recently appointed director of the Golden Age Retreat. Faulk to add Scott as director of Golden Age Retreat

APL seeks answers on sewer project

By Carol McilMiro

Animal Protective League officials visited county commission- ers March 28 looking for answers to questions concern- ing the installation of sewer lines along SR 43 north of Carroll- ton. President Klien Rohrer asked commissioners about a project to extend sewer lines to 44,000 acres of land and the sewer project does happen in the near future, would the APL have to look at the project? "It can't answer that question," commented Commissioner Oliver. "We have to talk to the Environmental Protection Agency requires consent within 60 days of a new line to host on. "Talk in the legislature is that it may change," Oliver said, adding he will work with EPA on the status of the request. "I talked with Charlie Cappel- laro, from Carroll County Environmental Services, and he said it could take up to 60 days for the request to be processed," Rohrer said. "We have over 235,000 offered in the project as of this month. It will be a state of the art shelter and an asset to the community. We will have a total of $700,000 to open and operate the shelter. We will have a total of 81.2 million in it total. We are working on a project to extend the sewer line in commercial Park and since that is complete, the sewer can assist to SR 43 project."

By Carol McilMiro

Animal Protective League officials visited county commission- ers March 28 looking for answers to questions concern- ing the installation of sewer lines along SR 43 north of Carroll- ton. President Klien Rohrer asked commissioners about a project to extend sewer lines to 44,000 acres of land and the sewer project does happen in the near future, would the APL have to look at the project? "It can't answer that question," commented Commissioner Oliver. "We have to talk to the Environmental Protection Agency requires consent within 60 days of a new line to host on. "Talk in the legislature is that it may change," Oliver said, adding he will work with EPA on the status of the request. "I talked with Charlie Cappel- laro, from Carroll County Environmental Services, and he said it could take up to 60 days for the request to be processed," Rohrer said. "We have over 235,000 offered in the project as of this month. It will be a state of the art shelter and an asset to the community. We will have a total of $700,000 to open and operate the shelter. We will have a total of 81.2 million in it total. We are working on a project to extend the sewer line in commercial Park and since that is complete, the sewer can assist to SR 43 project."

By Carol McilMiro

Animal Protective League officials visited county commission- ers March 28 looking for answers to questions concern- ing the installation of sewer lines along SR 43 north of Carroll- ton. President Klien Rohrer asked commissioners about a project to extend sewer lines to 44,000 acres of land and the sewer project does happen in the near future, would the APL have to look at the project? "It can't answer that question," commented Commissioner Oliver. "We have to talk to the Environmental Protection Agency requires consent within 60 days of a new line to host on. "Talk in the legislature is that it may change," Oliver said, adding he will work with EPA on the status of the request. "I talked with Charlie Cappel- laro, from Carroll County Environmental Services, and he said it could take up to 60 days for the request to be processed," Rohrer said. "We have over 235,000 offered in the project as of this month. It will be a state of the art shelter and an asset to the community. We will have a total of $700,000 to open and operate the shelter. We will have a total of 81.2 million in it total. We are working on a project to extend the sewer line in commercial Park and since that is complete, the sewer can assist to SR 43 project."

A new results will replace Cole Scott as super-intendent of the Carroll Golden Age Retirement Home this year.

Faulk to add Scott as director of Golden Age Retreat

Dawn Faulk was recently appointed director of the Golden Age Retreat. The announcement was made last week by Scott, who plans to retire Aug. 12 after 28 years as the county-owned facility. Faulk, a Carrollton resident, is a 15-year employee of the GARS, working as a floor nurse and shift supervisor. "This is my second home," Faulk said reacting to the announcement. "I fell in love with this place when I came here to work. The residents are wonderful, very thankful and kind and I like that it is a home-like feeling."

Faulk added that being a director is a reward of this position. "I very pleased Carrollton native was hired for the position," she said. "Dawn has experience in all areas and she will be a perfect fit. She will be very willing to learn the position."

Scott said as soon as a replacement is hired for Faulk's current position, she will begin training. "She will learn from me, as her boss, and very quickly will teach her the financial side."

By Carol McilMiro

GOOD MORNING
Sue Henderson!
Thank you for subscribing to The Messenger!
News

Grant funds could expand medical, dental care services

An initiative is underway to provide primary care and dental services to Carroll County.

Rick DeCarlo, president of Carroll County Rotary Club, said the club has been working to bring health care services to the area.

DeCarlo said the club received a grant from the Ohio Department of Health to help fund the expansion of health care services in the area.

The grant is being used to help fund the construction of a new building to house the health care services.

DeCarlo said the club is working with local officials and other partners to ensure that the services are accessible to all residents.

Expanding health care services could have a significant impact on the community, DeCarlo said.

"It's really going to make a difference for the people in our area," DeCarlo said.

DeCarlo said the club is taking steps to ensure that the services are provided in a way that is accessible to all residents, including those who may not have access to transportation.

The club is also working with local organizations to ensure that the services are provided in a way that is respectful and welcoming to all.

DeCarlo said the club is committed to providing high-quality health care services to the community.

"We're really excited about this initiative and we're going to do everything we can to make sure that it's successful," DeCarlo said.

The club is currently working with local officials to determine the best way to fund the expansion of health care services.

DeCarlo said the club is also working with local organizations to ensure that the services are provided in a way that is respectful and welcoming to all.

The club is currently working with local officials to determine the best way to fund the expansion of health care services.

DeCarlo said the club is also working with local organizations to ensure that the services are provided in a way that is respectful and welcoming to all.

The club is currently working with local officials to determine the best way to fund the expansion of health care services.

DeCarlo said the club is also working with local organizations to ensure that the services are provided in a way that is respectful and welcoming to all.

The club is currently working with local officials to determine the best way to fund the expansion of health care services.