Broadleigh Gardens dot com!!!

THE dot.com era has at last reached Broadleigh with the launch of our web site in the spring. Our catalogues and regular updates on special offers etc. can now be found at www.broadleighbulbs.co.uk. At the moment we have no facilities for taking orders on the net but are always happy to receive faxes or emails as well as normal order forms.

Modern technology, however, has had little real impact on the production of bulbs. Unlike roses etc., which can be budded in their thousands, bulbs on the whole still stick to nature's way. As most take around seven years to flower from seed, and then another ten years to build up a commercial stock, it is not a job for the impatient. The dramatic Californian bulb Calochortus, sometimes known as Mariposa Lily or Butterfly Tulip, has long been cherished in the collections of a few enthusiasts. Thanks to years of patient sowing and selecting a colleague in Holland has now raised a number of vigorous commercial strains of these striking bulbs, which we are offering on page 9.

One of our Gold Medal exhibits at the RHS.

This slow pace of increase also explains why there are relatively few new bulb introductions each year. There are many delicious things in the pipeline, but they only gradually creep onto the market. This year we have been able to include a number right across our range. They are all marked with a ★ and vary from rare species such as E. albidum (page 13), F. graeca (page 14) and N. moschatus (page 27), to new hybrids such as I. 'Broadleigh Chelsea Yellow' (page 16) and M. 'Valerie Finnis' (page 19) and highly desirable forms such as C speciosum 'Atrorubens' (page 3) and C. tomm. albus (page 12).

We recognise that a large number of our customers just want good quality, trouble-free bulbs and our collections have been chosen with them in mind. Whether you want massed bulbs for naturalising or just to give a display in pots there is something for you all. As well as including our most reliable bulbs they are also good value for money.

Whatever your reasons for buying bulbs from us, all here at Broadleigh wish you a successful season's gardening.

All bulbs in this catalogue are commercially propagated.

These bulbs are for garden decoration only and should not be eaten.

Our Spring List of plants in growth, especially Snowdrops, Cyclamen, Hellebores etc., is available from January. The garden is open to view every weekday (charity donation) but please note that we are a working mail order nursery and not a garden centre. If you wish to collect an order please give us advance notice (see Terms of Business).

NARCISSUS (DAFFODILS)

A daffodil is probably one of the easiest and least demanding of plants to grow. Normally, when a bulb is planted it will come up and flower, provided that an unbalanced fertilizer is not put on. Fertilizers containing an excess of nitrogen should be avoided, as should manure. However, the species do need more understanding and care and must be treated with the respect accorded to most plants in the garden. If they are happy they will become established and multiply.

The varieties we offer vary from 3" to 18" in height. Only a few are species and are clearly marked as such. The remainder are hybrids, being crosses between small species and larger-flowered varieties and, as normally happens, the hybrids have more vigour and adaptability. The hybrid daffodils which we list will grow almost anywhere, but this only applies to a very few of the species, many of which are alpinists and need treatment, especially drainage, suitable for these subjects. Species daffodils may be seen all over the high ground in Spain and Portugal, where N. asturiensis, bulbocodium, rupicola and triandrus are found growing through the melting snow like crocus in the Alps.

The jonquils, however, seem to like places where the soil is often heavy and where they get a thorough baking in summer. Few of the tazetta species are hardy in this country, and then only in unusually warm spots — however, their hybrids, the Poetas (Div. 8), are much hardier and make excellent cut flowers.

The bulbocodiums grow almost all over the Iberian peninsula, in varying conditions from marshland to dry road verges. When grown in this country it is found that those which increase by seed flower well but those whose bulbs split are likely to be flowerless after a few years. These trends can only be found out by experience as they seem to vary from garden to garden. Many of the triandrus family, all of which need good drainage, flower in partial shade, often on northern slopes.

Many people like to grow daffodils in the grass. However, it should be remembered for this form of naturalising that the bulbs should be planted 6" deep — in other words rather deeper than usual — and the grass should not be mown until after the leaves have died down. Many of the hybrids we list are suitable for this purpose, especially February Silver, Peeping Tom, February Gold, Beryl and the poeticus varieties (marked 'N'). Also, of course, the wild daffodil of northern Europe, now called pseudo narcissus. Many of the smaller hybrids are better grown in the border and rock garden, where their daintiness can be appreciated to the full.

MIXED NARCISSUS

After lifting, we find that a large number of bulbs have been missed.

Growing them on for a year and then digging them up individually to replace them with their own varieties is too costly a business. Therefore, we are making a special offer of bulbs, as lifted, which will contain a broad range of varieties, some of which may be quite valuable.
