Newsletter of The Central Ohio Daffodil Society

VOL. XIX, No. 2 APRIL 1989

Tag Bourne, Editor

Dear Fellow CODS Members,

I want to thank all who turned out to see the Tasvention slides, and especially Wells, Harold, Margaret and Naomi for showing them to us. They were grand and I'm sure I'm not the only one ready to take the trip down there!!

As you read this I should be home from enjoying a much needed break on the West Coast. Am hoping the weather treats us to some spectacular daffodils and gardens in general.

At our meeting in May we will be showing slides from the ADS Convention and also of daffodils at Havens and Evans, if the season out there warms in time.

It seems, as I write this, that we may be on our way to a good season, at least we have had plenty of rainfall early. Let's all keep our fingers crossed! Foliage here looks great.

To our new members, please don't be afraid to volunteer for a job at the show. The older members are so willing to show us the ropes and it is a great way to learn some valuable information about showing our favorite flower. Also, be sure to bring your best blooms to the show, you never know how many blue ribbons you might take home!

I was very lucky to have great conditions for planting the "down under" bulbs, planted the last ones on March 4th, the temperature was 60!! They arrived in great condition. I said a little prayer over them as I tucked them lovingly in the ground, now all I can do is wait. Handy says with luck we may see a bloom in May or June. Even though it wouldn't be a good one it would be much appreciated!! At least it would show they might learn to like our Ohio soil.

Wishing all of you a fabulous season with lots and lots of prizewinners!

If You Were Not There - You Missed It!

Thursday, March 16th began the 34th Annual Meeting of the American Daffodil Society. One hundred eighty-six people registered with Ohio represented by nineteen devotees.

Many new friendships were made and many old friendships renewed. Our California host had the knack for making us feel welcome. Thursday night's Awards Reception was dominated by Bob Spotts who earned many awards. Hard work does pay off.

Friday morning we gathered to hear Clive Postles program entitled "Not yet the end of the line". Clive, who assumed John Lea's daffodil business and stock of cultivars, told of how he was continuing a hybridizing program similar to Mr. Lea's. Bill Pannill and Father Athanasius Bucholz gave a warm and sensitive tribute to Murray Evans. Bill and Father "A" each painted his own view of Murray, but each expressed the same underlying goodness of a warm and generous man.

Friday afternoon a tour to Rod McClellan's "Acres of Orchids" was an experience most of us had never been part of. Those of us who were not familiar with the propagation styles of tissue culture and cloning got a lesson in laboratory techniques. The tour guides were capable of explaining the total operations to anyone from young children to orchid hobbyist.

Friday evening's banquet was highlighted by an auction of many choice cultivars from the U. S. and foreign locales. Several CODS members took home some "goodies".

Saturday brought wet, grey skies to our tour to Melrose Gardens. We were hosted by owners Sid Dubose and Ben Hager. They kindly supplied us with plastic booties so we could tour the dozens of weed free rows. We braved the rain and saw thousands of seedlings and newer cultivars from many hybridizers. Melrose Gardens are also renown for excellent iris and daylilies. Next, we were on to lunch at Wente Brothers Wine Cellars. The vineyards there having first begun being planted before the turn of the century. A tour of the cellars followed lunch.

The banquet Saturday evening was followed by another program from our entertaining new friend Clive Postles. Clive gave a slide show of his gardens and home and their thorough restoration. He included slides of Dunley Hall, the home of John Lea and slides of new winning cultivars from English Shows. Dinner closed with an invitation from that "Scarlett" woman, Jaydee Ager. The "Scarlett" title stemming from the hooped -skirted dress and smooth southern drawl she wore so well. She even forgave the "Damyankes for not granting the South a divorce when she invited them too!

So if you missed California its too late now...but not for Callaway Gardens in Georgia.

Your Editor fell while on vacation in San Diego and broke her wrist. What a shock to arrive at convention and find her in a cast above her elbow. Hope she will be back at the typewriter with both hands soon.

1988 CODS Daffodil Show

All members should plan to help in some phase of our annual show.

Set-up will be at 1:00 p.m., Friday, April 21 on the concourse level of the Upper Arlington Municipal Services Building, 3600 Tremont Road. Blocks, tubes, and entry tags may be picked up at that time.

Entries are received from 8 to 11:00 a.m. Saturday morning.

Since the basement is no longer available to groups, we will be unable to have our usual potluck luncheon. We hate to see this great tradition abandoned but could not talk the city into letting us use the space now used by their employees. The Judges Luncheon will be held at the home of Nancy Gill.

Tear-down will be at 5:00 p.m., Sunday, April 23rd. All members are expected to help will this. Many hands lessen the task.

All trophies (cleaned) must be returned to Tag Bourne, Judges Chairman, by April 15th.

Handy Hatfield & Naomi Liggett, Show Chairmen
