CULTURAL NOTES

For best results, choose a well-drained, sunny plot of ground.

Deep digging to aerate the soil is very important, but too much organic manure is not recommended except in very dry areas, as this is liable to start fungus diseases. Bone meal helps bulb and flower of production and sulphate of potash is a great help for producing intensity of colour. Bone meal not more than three ounces per square yard, potash a light sprinkling over the beds.

If it is desired to plant in beds, these should be made up some weeks before planting which, ideally, should be completed in September.

We plant the bulbs in about $1\frac{1}{2}$ times their own depth, i.e., a bulb that measures two inches from crown to base is planted in a hole three inches deep. We plant our bulbs eight per row in four foot beds, with a path about 18 inches between the beds. If the bulbs are a very small variety, nine may be planted. The rows are planted far enough apart to allow hoeing between them during the growing season to keep the weeds down. If the bulbs are not being grown commercially they can be left down for several seasons without being lifted, and will flower extremely well. If desired they can be planted in clumps for garden decoration, but if Show specimens are aimed at the raised bed method is the best.

Many people like to grow bulbs in pots, and this method certainly gives one great pleasure and a chance to study the flowers in comfort without the cold winds, rain, hail and even snow conditions which we have come to expect during the daffodil season.

It is not usually successful to try and force the bulbs, the best rule is to leave them sunk in the ground outside until the flower buds show above the ground. Then they may be brought into a cool greenhouse or a cool light window.

When the buds are starting to open they need a great deal of water and must never be allowed to dry out.

Five bulbs can be planted in a nine-inch pot or more if the bulbs are small. Potting does not improve the condition of the bulbs, but we have found that by replanting them in the lump as they come out of the pot immediately after flowering they do not suffer much.

Division

Each £5 $12

2b LISANORE (Carncairn). 4. Bred from Pink O'Dawn X, Rose Royale, this is a most unusual flower, the rose pink cup, which is daintily frilled and turned back at the mouth, becomes a much paler pink, almost white as the flower ages. The goblet-shaped cup is deep solid crimson right to the base, in splendid contrast to the pure white rounded perianth. MIXED SEEDLINGS

Bred from the finest varieties, there are some very exciting and interesting flowers among our seedlings.

As we can only keep a few of the very best every year, we have a great variety for disposal. Only strong, healthy bulbs.

Daffodils for Naturalising

As we often have surplus stocks of some varieties which we do not wish to re-plant we may be able to offer rounds, large offsets, and double-nosed bulbs of second size for naturalising. These bulbs are all flowering sizes for next Spring, and some D.N. 2 will produce at least two flowers.

These can be supplied in a few named varieties.

Minimum order—100 bulbs. Postage and Packing extra £4 per 100.
