Greetings to all daffodil fanatics,

Most of you receiving this mailing have had some knowledge of my plodding toward becoming a professional daffodil grower and supplier. Conventional wisdom and the old saying imply I should have been rushing in! Regardless, this list presents the bulbs that have been lifted in sufficient quantities to comfortably offer to anyone who has a spit of space left this season and might like to check out the quality. Mostly I wanted to give ADS members a look at my initial selections for cataloging, with the knowledge that garden worthiness in the rigorous New England climate is the primary focus. I also believe most choices are great for beginning exhibitors. Your comments and/or suggestions are welcomed. For those who would like a list with written descriptions for many of the varieties, please write, phone, or e-mail. In the future, plan on seeing an extensive list of intermediates plus even more garden friendly Division 9's.

From the "You can't grow them all" file.....

The following varieties, for one reason or another, will not continue to be replanted for future increases. In this list are some very fine exhibition flowers. If any are of interest to you, buy them at their less than current market costs, or request them as your gratis bulb(s). Some I have very few of, so be sure to list alternates. If saleable sizes are unavailable but bulbs needing growing on are acceptable as your bonus, please let me know.

Terms of Business

Payment is required with all orders unless prior arrangements have been made.

Make all checks payable to David Burdick.

MA 5% sales tax must be added to all shipments within Massachusetts.

Primary method of shipment will be USPS Priority Mail and begins the first week of September. If a specific shipping date and/or method is required, please indicate your needs in the Special Requests section of the order form.

Bulbs stocks are reserved and orders processed in the sequence in which they are received.

Substitutions will not be made unless requested, and only then with selections of similar or higher value. A list of acceptable alternatives is appreciated and hopefully rewarded!

Orders cannot be cancelled unless by mutual consent.

All bulbs offered for sale are guaranteed to be true to name and believed healthy upon dispatch. Care should be taken that all parcels are opened immediately and inspected. Any concerns need be addressed within two weeks of the shipping date. After this we unfortunately fall victim to things over which we have no control, including improper storage, siting, and planting. If there are problems, we need to know about them! If there are successes, we'd love to hear of them.

All bulbs are grown in our field at Holiday Farm in Dalton, MA unless otherwise stated. We love visitors, but please call ahead.
