No two daffodil seasons are alike, but that of 1963 was more unlike others than any that I can remember; very backward and perplexing. However in retrospect one usually finds that the season has not been so grievous as was anticipated.

The harvest was delayed as foliage kept green far longer than usual and exceptionally fine bulbs developed. If we get reasonably good weather this April we should see wonderful flowers.

The most exciting new seedlings selected last year came from four crossings of which Easter Moon was the seed parent viz.; E. M. \times Castle of May, E. M. \times Glendermott, E. M. \times Passionale and E. M. \times Shantallow. Mr. Guy Wilson told me a few years ago how valuable Easter Moon would be for breeders and how right he was!

I should be delighted to welcome any daffodil enthusiast to look at the new seedlings this coming season.

NEW INTRODUCTIONS OF 1963

ANGEL. Div. IIIC. 3-4 (Guy L. Wilson). Upon seeing the angelic flowers produced from the first bulb, the late Guy Wilson was so impressed, that there and then he gave it the name "Angel." This lovely large pure ice-white IIIC has a most exciting cup, starting white then shading from pale to deep green in the base of the eye. This very large flower which measures 4-5 inches in diameter, is of quite faultless form and quality, with the perianth reflexed just enough to suggest wings. A superb show flower, vigorous plant with a fine tall stem.

Each, £23. Each, $64.00

BORDER LEGEND. Div. IIA. 2-3 (Guy L. Wilson). An enormous spectacular flower. The large round perianth measures fully 5-6 inches across and the segments are proportionally broad, smooth and of a clear deep yellow; the large expanded cup, nicely frilled, is of a bright orange-red; magnificent colouring. This massive flower stands 24 inches high, bold, upright, beautifully posed on its short stiff neck well above its blue-green foliage and is without doubt, a flower with a great future. Sun-proof and very durable.

Each, £10. Each, $28.00

FOAMING SEAS. Div. IC. 2 (Guy L. Wilson). Bred from two seedlings, this flower is of superlative quality, faultless texture and proportion; the perfectly flat regular perianth with a nicely balanced flanged trumpet, makes this a very attractive flower of the purest white throughout. Strong stem, short neck and fine habit.

Each, £6. Each, $16.80

GEISHA. Div. IIB. 4 (Guy L. Wilson). Bred from a long line of pinks, the long and pointed pure white perianth suggests a somewhat starry appearance; the $\frac{3}{4}$ inch length cup is of solid rosy pink to the base and has great lasting qualities. This is a breeder's flower as it has proved its potentialities as a pollen parent with us; the first of its seedlings to flower are some of the finest pinks yet seen. Very vigorous, with stem of great strength and good neck. Each, 35/-. Each, \$4.90

MARMOSET. Div. IIB. 2-3 (Guy L. Wilson). Bred from Rosario by Roslyn, a charming pink with faultlessly smooth, erect, pure white, slightly pointed perianth of quality and substance, which stands at right angles to the solid coral pink crown, almost of trumpet proportions. Beautifully posed and carried on a strong stiff stem which will make this a fine exhibition flower. Each, 70/-. Each, $9.80

SANTA CLAUS. Div. IV. 6 (Guy L. Wilson). F.C.C., R.H.S., 1950. A very round, fully double flower of the purest white and most perfect symmetry and form. The segments of this lovely double poeticus are very flat, broad and overlap almost to the top edge so that the flower has the appearance of a beautiful white double Camellia. A unique flower of great charm and beauty; the 3 inch blooms are carried on strong 18 inch stems and are strongly scented with a true poeticus perfume.

Each, £8. Each, $22.40

SCHAPIRO. Div. IIA. 4 (Guy L. Wilson). A magnificently coloured flower of tremendous substance, perfect form and proportions; short necked and beautifully posed on a tall stiff stem standing well clear of the foliage which, throughout its life, remains bold upright. The large rounded, overlapping perianth of a beautiful clear rich gold, with its shortish frilled cup of solid intense orange-red, makes this flower one of the best in its class. Very vigorous, fine show flower.

Each, £13. Each, $36.00

WINGED VICTORY. Div. VIA. 2 (C. F. Coleman). We are indeed pleased to be able to offer this magnificent new Cyclamineus Hybrid raised by Mr. Coleman from his well-known Jenny by pollen of Salmon Trout. The form generally, is that of an enlarged Jenny retaining, however, the grace of that flower. It is a most striking bicolour, the rich yellow cup is slightly waisted, expanding towards the mouth which has a thin edging of cream; the white perianth spreads backwards in the typical "Ballet Skirt" pattern of these hybrids. Tall, free flowering and long lasting; seeds liberally and is magnificent for show or garden purpose—and preeminent for floral arrangements. Only one or two to go.

Each, £17. Each, $47.60

EMPRESS OF IRELAND. 2 (Guy L. Wilson). A.M., R.H.S., 1956. Undoubtedly the most magnificent large white trumpet daffodil introduced up to date. A truly majestic flower up to 5 inches in diameter, and of such faultless form, balance and proportion that it entirely satisfies the eye, smooth flat perianth built of magnificent ace of spades shaped segments of immense breadth, with beautifully balanced trumpet which has the rather rare attribute in a very large flower, of not being too wide at the base, and at the same time ideally flanged and frilled at the mouth. Comes quite early in the season so is always sure to be in time for shows. Flowers carried on strong 16 to 18 inch stems. Voted best exhibition white trumpet by R.H.S. panel of experts, in the years 1959 to 1963.

WHITE PRINCE. 3 (Guy L. Wilson). A very large pure ice-white trumpet of absolutely ideal form, proportion and balance. I am induced to list this variety because it has been most enthusiastically admired here, while a leading amateur in U.S.A. considers it the best IC he has yet seen; but it has a curious fault, i.e., when growing strongly on second year down bulbs, here at all events, a proportion of the flowers usually come with a kind of spur on the side of the trumpet, but all flowers from first year planted bulbs are usually quite perfect when its beauty could not be exaggerated.

Each, £4. Each, $11.00

WHITE TARTAR. 3 (Guy L. Wilson). A large magnificent flower of faultless form, purest white throughout. Very broad, smooth, widely overlapping white perianth, standing at right angles to the perfectly proportioned trumpet with its wide evenly rolled flange; short neck and very strong stem.

REVERSED BICOLOR TRUMPET DIVISION ID

SPELLBINDER. 1-2 (Guy L. Wilson). A.M., R.H.S. This is the most strikingly coloured of the series bred from King of the North by Content. A large flower of the most wonderful and entirely distinct clear luminous greeny sulphur-lemon. When fully developed the inside of the flanged trumpet passes almost to white, while the outside of the trumpet retains its colour, and the serrated brim is tipped with sparkling lemon—hence the flower becomes a reversed bicolour; a really remarkable and most attactive colour break. Free increaser.

FIREPROOF. 2 (Guy L. Wilson). Highly Commended Wisley Trials, 1959. This flower has been bred with a view to attaining non-fading colour; this it has certainly achieved. Its seed parent was bred from Sunproof Orange by pollen of Trevisky, while its pollen parent was the well-known sun-resisting Rustom Pasha. It is a neat medium sized flower with bright gold perianth and vivid solid orange red cup and appears to be absolutely sunproof, as it was left entirely unprotected in the open throughout the exceptionally sunny season of 1952 and suffered no fading or burning of the cup whatever. As it is free of bloom and increase and has a good stem it should ultimately prove a fine market and garden variety.

Each, 2/6; Dozen, 27/-. Each, 35 cents; Dozen, $3.85

FOXHUNTER. 2 (Guy L. Wilson), Bred from Armada by Saltash, this is a very fine large red and yellow like a much improved Saltash as it has a strong stem and good neck. FALAISE. 6 (J. L. Richardson). A unique double, raised from Mary Copeland; the pollen parent must have been a Poeticus as the petals are of purest white and the flower has the true Poeticus-scent. HINTS ON DAFFODIL GROWING FOR EXHIBITORS

In choosing a site for choice daffodils, it should of course be borne in mind that the land must be well drained, as soil that is waterlogged or sour will not grow good bulbs. Any loam that is well drained, and moist and cool a few inches down, from very sandy to quite stiff clay will grow good daffodils. A position open to the sun should be chosen, and if it has shelter from prevailing winds, such as is provided by belts of trees that are not sufficiently near to allow of their roots robbing the soil too much, it is a very great advantage.

Given good bulbs, the main factor in growing fine daffodils is thorough and deep cultivation of the soil. My own method of getting ground into condition for bulbs is to grow a crop of vegetables on it the season before it is intended to plant the bulbs. If the soil is at all inclined to be sour and it is thought necessary to give it a dressing of lime, a light dressing should be applied when in preparation for the vegetable crop. When the vegetables are lifted and the ground cleared in autumn, the soil is thrown up into high ridges, the bottom of the trenches between the ridges being forked over as deeply as possible: after the wettest winter weather is over, usually in March, the ridges are split and thrown up again where the trenches formerly were, the trenches between these new ridges being in turn deeply forked over: this exposes the soil to the utmost possible extent to the beneficial action of frost, sun and air; in the early summer the plot can be levelled down and forked over; the forking can be repeated with benefit if time permits. A fortnight or three weeks before the bulbs are planted, beds can be marked out, made up, and left to settle. 4 feet or 4 feet 6 inches is a convenient width for the beds with 18-inch paths between.

It is advisable to plant bulbs not later than the middle of October. The farmyard manure applied when planting the vegetable crop will, unless the soil is very poor indeed, provide ample feeding for the bulbs, to which the application of fresh farmyard manure is dangerous; if a little extra feeding is thought desirable when the bulbs are in their second season, nothing is safer than a sprinkling of bone meal, fine ground, or steamed bone flour, about 3 ounces per square yard lightly forked in in the autumn or in February, and if wood ashes are obtainable, or such ash as results from burning hedge or shrub trimmings, a light dressing is very beneficial.

I am sometimes asked how deep the bulbs should be planted: they vary very greatly in size so perhaps the best guide is to cover them with roughly one and a half times their own depth of soil above their noses, i.e., measuring the bulbs from their bases to their noses. In very light soils they may be planted slightly deeper and probably the same would apply in climates where there are high summer temperatures.

Keep the ground clear of weeds, and once growth is well through early in the year, constant surface cultivation, when the beds are not too wet to work on, is of great importance and benefit.

If your ground is at all exposed, it is advisable to provide additional shelter by means of securely fixed hop screening, or hurdles, as it is essential that flowers for exhibition should be clean and in perfect condition. Should the weather be severe when the daffodils are flowering, with hail squalls for example, an occurrence unfortunately by no means rare in April, special blooms may be protected by means of suitable bell glasses or small frame lights; various devices will suggest themselves to the enthusiastic exhibitor.

As the show date approaches, the flowers should be watched carefully, and if severe weather threatens, they may be cut several days or a week beforehand; in any event, they ought to stand in water at least 24 hours before packing. Take care to cut with as long stems as possible, and stand at once in jars of clear rainwater in an unheated and well-ventilated room. Half-open young flowers can of course be given a slightly warmer temperature, being placed say under the shelf in a cool greenhouse where they will develop beautifully; even tight buds may be coaxed out by a little judicious coddling. Nothing is more fascinating than getting one's flowers into perfect condition for showing; it is an art in which close observation and experience are the best teachers; every season presents one with new problems arising from varying conditions of weather and earliness or lateness of bloom; it is thus never a tiresome, but always an entrancing and enthralling business, which brings one infallibly back to the ardent and all-absorbing enthusiasm of youth.

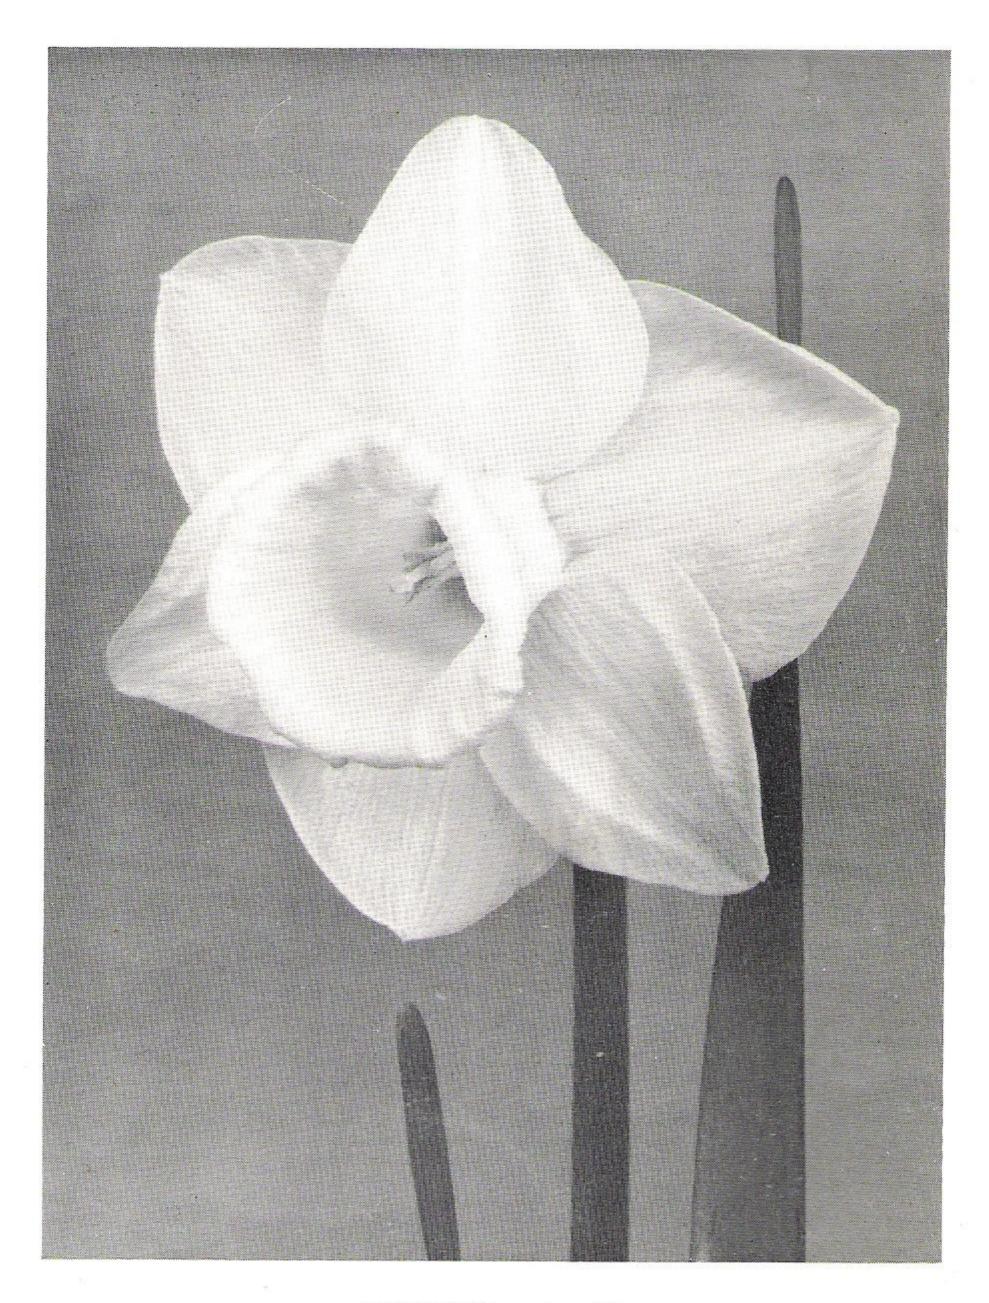

If the finest possible flowers are required for show purposes, it is advisable to lift and divide the bulbs every second season. Lifting should be done immediately the bulbs are ripe, that is, just when the foliage has turned yellow and will come away from the bulbs easily with a slight pluck; they should not be left longer, as rains may induce fresh root action, after which lifting would inflict a severe check. The time of ripening varies with locality, season and variety, but occurs roughly in the last weeks of June and early July; some few varieties keep their foliage green very late, and must be lifted before it quite dies down: it is better to lift a little too early than too late.

The bulbs should be spread to dry in suitable trays in an airy shed; they should be cleaned and sorted when sufficiently dry, and replanted on a fresh plot which has been prepared for their reception as already described. Other crops should be grown for two or three seasons on the first plot to provide rotation, after which bulbs may be safely grown there again; such rotation is very easily arranged in the kitchen garden.

The foregoing directions are given for those who wish to produce the finest possible blooms for exhibition; but it may be added that, for those who require their daffodils for garden decoration and cutting thoroughly satisfactory results can be obtained by planting the bulbs in clumps and groups in well-cultivated borders or beds, and leaving them undisturbed for several years; after all the daffodil is one of the very hardiest, most accommodating and easy to grow of all plants.
