Daffodils for 1984

Although there are a number of seedlings scheduled for introduction in the near future, it was decided that stocks are too small to offer this year. Note-that newly named cultivars almost always sell too low for listing the next year. A brief respite from the incessant rain in early October enabled us to complete the fall planting by mid-month. 1983 ended with 10 inches above normal rainfall. Prices include postage and insurance paid on all but overseas orders. We cannot promise to fill orders received after September 15.
