I waited a little while to see if anyone else would post some photos since there were lots of people with cameras there; however, I'll give it a little push by posting these few.

This show included an artistic design section as well as horticulture. The left picture show one of the classes for large designs by adults. (The show included a couple well populated classes for youths.) The center picture shows the small designs. The picture on the right is the best design in the adult classes.
