Narcissi

Trumpet Daffodils

APRIL FLOWERING. PACKED AND PRICED PER 50, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED.

For centuries, Trumpet Daffodils, also referred to as Long Cupped Narcissi, have been the most popular of all Narcissi for bold, impactful display and naturalizing. They are classified by their trumpet-shaped cups that are as long as, if not longer than, the length of their perianth segments (petals). The individual characteristics of each variety are unique, however subtle. Cups vary from trumpet to cylindrical to funnel shapes, with edges that are straight, flanged or rolled and rims that are wavy, frilled, lobed or smooth. The shape of the perianth segments determines the overall form of each flower: as a result, some are more star-shaped or round, while others appear more like double triangles. Perianths may be reflexed, inflexed or spreading.

Varieties with pink cups should be grown in areas of filtered sunlight so their light salmon, apricot-pink, coral or soft old rose cups can be protected from direct sunlight that would bleach out their pinkness. Bulb size: DNII. Most varieties yield a top size DNII bulb that is 14/16 cm in circumference. Plant 6" to 8" deep and 6" apart. HZ: 3-7. Royal Horticultural Society Division 1. Height: 18" to 20".

Arkle: One of the best yellow Trumpets available, Arkle has a huge, 5" golden-yellow flower with a perfectly formed, flouncy perianth and a long, cylindrical cup with a flanged and wavy edge. A member of J. Lionel Richardson's Race Horse Series, this award-winner was registered in 1968.

Do You Need To Precool Your Bulbs?

If you live in horticultural zones 8 or warmer, you need to precool your bulbs for a minimum of ten to twelve weeks starting in mid-October at a consistent, dark 38°F to 45°F before you plant them outside in the ground. When you receive your order, inspect the health and firmness of your bulbs: discard any that are soft. Do not precool your bulbs with apples or pears that emit harmful ethylene gas as they ripen. Before removing the bulbs from precooling, prepare the garden bed for planting so that they may be planted immediately, before they lose their cool. Prechilled bulbs do not thrive reliably when planted in exterior containers due to temperature spikes and poor root formation that may yield foliage but few, if any, flowers. If you need to precool your bulbs, check the precooling box on the order form for special early October shipment.

Split-Cup Narcissi

APRIL FLOWERING. PACKED AND PRICED PER 50, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED.

Split-Cup or Split-Corona Narcissi fall into three groups: Papillon (Butterfly), Collar, or combination types that often have frilly, ruffled or whorled petal segments. Each type has split cups in multiple sections that are at least one-third the length of their petals. Plant varieties with pink cups in filtered sunlight to protect their delicate coloration from direct sunlight. DNII bulb size: 14/16 cm. Plant 6" to 8" deep and 6" apart. HZ: 4-8. Royal Horticultural Society Division 11. Height: 16".

Cassata: This 1963 Gerritsen Collar-type has a 4" greenish-white perianth overlaid with a well-overlapping Collar-type corona that opens bright greenish-yellow and matures to almost pure white. A bit earlier flowering. 16" to 18". (8060) 50/$ 29.00 100/$ 55.50 500/$ 254.75

Congress: (11) A 1965 Gerritsen Collar-type, Congress has brilliant, 4"-wide flowers. Its perianth is vivid greenish-yellow, only to be outshined by its slightly ruffled, deep orange cup that winks with a bit of yellow at its base. Bulb size: 14/16 cm. HZ: 4-8. 14" to 16".

Naturalizing Narcissus Mixtures

APRIL/MAY FLOWERING. PACKED AND PRICED PER 100, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED.

Our prized Naturalizing Narcissus mixtures have been gracing estates, conservatory woodlands and fields, and renown public gardens for over 100 years. Comprised of top-size DNII name varieties, our mixtures are created carefully for the best, most dazzling of spring performances for lifetimes of enjoyment. Vast Narcissus plantings are indeed the art and soul of spring. A tremendous value, these mixes offer unparalleled variety and quality. DNII bulb size varies by variety. Plant 6" to 8" deep and 6" apart; the Miniature and Cyclamineus Mixtures may be planted a little closer together. HZ: 3-7.

The Narcissus Grand Mixture: We have selected dozens of the best naturalizing Narcissi available from among the Trumpet Daffodil, Large Cupped, Small Cupped, Double, Jonquilla, Triandrus, Poeticus, Split-Cup and Cyclamineus classes. It will stage a magnificent show for four to six weeks each spring. 16" to 20".(8752) 100/$51.75 500/$247.25 1,000/$472.00 5,000/$2,247.00

Mr. Kees Breed's Small Cupped Narcissus Mixture: New! Mr. Breed was the loving curator of the world's largest living museum of flower bulbs—over 5,000 varieties. Sadly, Mr. Breed, a quiet, hard-working man with a blue-eyed twinkle, passed away in April. In his memory, his son, Eric Breed, created this blend of his father's favorite Small Cups. They range from primitive hybrids of N. poeticus and N. pseudonarcissus, to some that are really new. Most have flat flowers with distinctly colored cup edges. As Eric says, "they're all charming and graceful—the upper-class ladies of the Daffodil world." 14" to 16".(8778) 50/$51.75 100/$ 98.75 500/$469.75 1,000/$ 892.50
